Belleville, Wednesday, August 22nd, 186

WE trust that this grave question will receive the attention which its importance demands.

A SLAP IN THE FACE.—The Intelligencer reads Mr. O'llare a lecture about his "bribe-ferrying" in the Council, and his gross personal abuse of gentleness outside. How do you like that, Mr. O'llare, from your quondam friend? How does the rebuke feel, coming from a person less free from such sins than the majority of almsmen? It is the old custom of Satan rebuking sin. We do not say that Mr. O'llare did not deserve the censure, but it sounds so funny coming from the Intelligencer, so unworthy that journal, that we cannot but smile at it. If the same conduct, the Council on every breach of good conduct, it will have enough to do. But we to the enterprise.

could possibly be officially informed that that two addresses had been addressed to the Corporation, and that as Mr. Pennecfather could not have any of our squabbles, unless Mr.
Pennecfather informed him, - which was a piece of serious impertinence on his part. Why was his Mr. Benjamin with the address of Town? Let him confine his attention to his own address from the County. I have no ambition prompt him to come to the Town, as well as the intermeddling has brought upon us

LARGE PLUMS.—Mr. Nathaniel placed on our table some eggs from one of his trees in the 5th of which for size and beauty are rare. Two are attached to one stem, and surer over 6 inches in circumference ripe, which they are not yet, the baby be larger. If any superior we would like to "make a note of."

whipped around as any person the Council elected for their duties. He was the Mayor, or even to insult them? He thought for British subjects to be guilty of such conduct was a disgrace to the influence; he was so understanding existed, but it was the Mayor and his friends.

Mr. LeVeque said it depended on how the Mayor signed the order. If he signed it as Mayor or simply as Chairman of the Board, it was the former character, he had duties. If as chairman of the Board, it was the latter. He had a perfect right to do so, but it was his duty as to transgressing his authority.
